

Course Title: Law of Crimes - II
Course Code: IL-C-403

Course Objective: The course is intended with a specific purpose to make the students of BALLB aware of the offences against the human body, which among others, include culpable homicide and murder, kidnapping and abduction. The students will also be imparted the knowledge regarding the offences against property and women in which new developments post Criminal Law (Amendment) Act, 2013 will be deliberated upon. Further, in this paper, students will be kept abreast about the offences against marriage and criminal intimidation.

Course Outcome: After learning the course, students will be able to:

1. Understand different types of offences on person, property, reputation and women
2. Make a difference between culpable homicide and murder
3. Understand how defences under section 302 can be invoked and how they differ from general defences
4. Understand the constitutionality of the death penalty, adultery, and bigamy
5. Understand concepts like euthanasia, last will, etc.
6. Make a difference between different highly complicated offences against property