

Course Title: International Law-I

Course Code: IL-C-501

Course Objective: The primary goal of this course is:

- * To understand the nature of international law and the relationship between international law and municipal law.
- * To distinguish between different sources of international law and describe their relationship.
- * To identify the different subjects of international law.
- * To understand the concept of recognition of States and analyse the rights and duties of State.
- * To understand the concept of jurisdiction and acquisition of territory.

Course Outcome: The course will enable the students to do the following:

- * To critically examine the difference between sources of international law.
- * To identify the different subjects of international law.
- * To describe the principles governing state recognition.
- * To describe the scope, functions and importance of international law.
- * To describe the interaction between national and international law.
- * To identify the subjects in International law and compare the responsibilities between states and non-state actors.