

Course Title: Criminal Procedure Code
Course Code: IL-C-702

Course Objective: This course aims to make students conversant with the procedure right from the lodging of FIR up to the execution of the sentence in case of commission of the crime so that thorough professional training is imparted to the students by adopting a blended approach of theoretical knowledge in classrooms and applied knowledge by visiting police stations and relevant courts.

Course Outcome: In any criminal justice system, protecting individual rights and liberty against atrocities is a significant cause of concern. It is vital to have a balanced criminal procedure based upon sound principles of law and promote our constitution's cherished ideals. Human rights can only be promoted when domestic criminal justice systems are based upon the idea of equity, justice and good consciences. The criminal procedure code is designed to realise these ideals through the administration and enforcement of the criminal law. Substantive rights will have no meaning if proper recourses are not available in case of their infringements. It provides machinery for the detection of crime and an enforcement mechanism for its implementation.
