Course Title: Dissertation
Course Code: LLM-Paper II

Course Objective: LLM Dissertation is a research programme. It prepares a student for quality research for further studies. It involves rigorous training and understanding of different research methods, both analytical and empirical. It trains a student to present original thoughts in an organised and systematic manner, presenting and analysing and interpreting data for conclusion and implementation.

Course Outcome: The students will be groomed as researchers with the objective understanding of evaluation of enactments and judicial decisions that will enable them to appraise the efficacy of laws and working of Institutions meant for execution of Laws. They will be able to write research papers, conference reports, policy papers, projects. They can write books and book reviews etc.